BIG PROPERTY LOSS FEARED IN TWO WARDS

Basements Are Flooded and Many Houses Completely Surrounded

New London - The flood which overflowed the banks of the Embarrass river early on Tuesday morning, and which continued throughout the day was still unabated late on Tuesday. Much alarm is felt by residents of the Second and Fifth wards, for property damage is bound to be high. Fear was felt regarding paved and gravel roads and sidewalks which were becoming undermined by the swift current of the river which sacpt through the entire Fifth and Second wards. Nearly all sidewalks were inundated along Shawano-st, and even on N. Water-st., north sidewalks were covered with water. Water on Tuesday night had reached well to the corner of N. Waterst and State-st and precautions had been taken to prevent water from entering the Ramm hardware store and garage. Only a few inches remained between the level of the Wolf river and the current from the Embarrass which flowed over pavements at several points along the street.

Crews of workmen were busy putting up temporary light wires along the inundated district, as all posts were standing in several inches of water. Diking of the Wolf river along the Northport-rd was resorted to in an effort, to keep the water from covering the graveled surface. At three points along the way the roadbed was narrowed to a bare scant eight feet and fear was felt that the water before Wednesday morning would cover the road in two places in the village of

WORLD COURT OPPONENTS

No better illustration of the extent to which a portion of the American press and conniving politicians can make themselves ridiculous is afforded than by the freakish and hysterical attempts to keep the United States out of the world court. Their diatribes and reasonings are worthy of the inmates of an asylum for halfwits. Elihu Root, one of the most distinguished and loyal Americans the country has ever produced, is attacked in the coarse language of a buffoon because he has drafted a substitute for the senate reservations touching advisory opinions that would clear away the differences between the United States and the court signatories. He is denounced for doing a constructive and patriotic thing which promises the needed coopcration of this country with the rest of the world for the peaceful and orderly adjudication of international differ-

Mr. Root's proposal is simple, understandable and non-technical. It exempts the United States entirely from obligation to accept advisory opinions concerning matters in which it has or claims an interest, and on which it opposes an opinion. It obviates the difficulty of permitting it to veto a request for an advisory opinion, which is objectionable to court signatories at large, by reserving the right to summarily withdraw from the court if the opinion is handed down. All of which preserves the situation with respect to advisory opinions exactly as it exists now with the United States out of the court. Nothing more than this could be asked, nothing more desired.

As a matter of fact, the obstructionists to American participation in the world court have made a mountain out of a molehill. They have hedged and hummed and hawed with all sorts of trivial complaints that had no real pertinency to the question as to whether the United States should or should not support the tribunal. The time has come when we should have a showdown and the world should know definitely and finally whether the United States proposes to lend its prestige and cooperation to this great judicial establishment set up to promote peace, and which is functioning with the highest credit to itself and its founders.

WHAT OUR AUTOS COST

The people of the United States spend approximately $14,000,000,000 every year on automobiles, according to figures just made public by the National Automobile Chamber of Com-

It is interesting to see how this money is spent.

The purchase of new cars takes the largest slice—$3,830,000,000. Next comes the bill for gasoline and oil-$2,370,000,000. Tires and spare parts cost $2,000,000,000; chauffeurs and drivers are paid $2,225,000;000; roads and streets cost $1,600,000,000, and garage and service charges amount to $1,015,000,000. The rest—something like $935,000,000—goes for insurance, taxes, permits and the like.

It's a big bill, but it's worth it. The figures, incidentally, make one wonder what would happen to our prosperity if the auto industry should vanish.

WIPING OUT SPEED LIMITS

Now it is the Ohio legislature which is considering a plan to abolish auto speed limits on country roads and make a blanket statute about reckless driving cover everything. Certain other states have already adopted such a law and more are investigating the

We don't know what the actual statistics on the thing would show, if they were compiled; but the law strikes us as reasonable enough. After all, there is no hard and fast standard for driving. A speed of 50 miles an hour, on L some ra. be-perfectly safe, while 25 miles an hour, on other roads, may be too fast. Drivers, also, vary; some are able to travel safely at high speeds and others are not.

Revoking such state limits, incidentally, deals a body blow to speed traps. And that, by itself, is a good argument for such a law.

DULL PSYCHOLOGY!

Members of the senior class at Yale University were recently given a long list of questions about college life to answer! Among these was the question, "What do you believe to be the least valuable of the courses you have studied here?"

Offhand, one would expect that the students would pick some dry-as-dust subject like Greek, trigonometry or ancient history. But lo and behold! the honor (or otherwise) of being labelled the least valuable subject in the Yale curriculum fell to nothing in the world but that pet subject of modernism,

Here is news, indeed. On every hand we hear that none of our major problems will, be solved until we have learned all there is to learn about psychology; yet the young men at Yale feel that it meant less to them than to all the rest of that university's many courses. Let the psychologists chew upon this for a while.

THE SENATE RULES

Listeners, says the old proverb, never hear good of themselves, but radio hearers have just listened in on some mingled good and bad tidings from a forum conducted by a Washington newspaper. Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, chairman of the senate committee which has charge of the reapportionment and census bills, stated with great positiveness in his presurvey of the special session of congress that the reapportionment bill would be reported out and passed at the special session. Senator "Stand Pat" Harrison of Mississippi, filibuster chieftain who sank the reapportionment measure in the concluding days of the last congress, stated just as firmly that it would not. Nobody is going to get a reapportionment measure, based on the results of a coming census, passed except over his dead body, he said.

As the same "over my dead body" rule, was applied to reapportionment based on the past census it is evident that if the Mississippi senator has his way no reapportionment, on censuses past or future will ever be undertaken. And senate rules give him great latitude to conduct obstruction. Vice President Dawes, retiring from the chair in the senate, apparently was right in reminding the senators that efficient conduct of public affairs was impossible until the rules were changed.

HUMANITY IN JUSTICE

A story that really belongs in a whimsical work of fiction appeared recently in an eastern newspaper. It told of a patient husband who, after 31 years of matrimony, walked away from his family without farewell or explanation. He and his wife had raised nine brawny sons. Five of them were married. All of them were able to take care of themselves and their mother. They were a noisy crowd, and the father yearned for quiet.

The father's long walk ended when he found a job as night watchman at an infirmary for deaf and dumb persons. He slept in heavenly quiet in the daytime and did his watching in blissful quiet in the night. He made only $12.50 a week, but there were no talking and arguing and shouting to listen to, so he was content.

Alas! The family didn't approve of this. They instituted a search and finally found the old man in his hiding place. They brought him back to face a judge on the charge of abandonment. In court his sons were gruff to him. It was brought out that the four unmarried sons earned a total, income ten times that of their father's. Said the wise and sympathetic judge:

"I will adjourn the case for six months. Go back to your watchman's job. I guess many a husband envies you the quiet of it. But pay your wife $2.50 a week." There is occasionally humanity in justice.

POST-TONIC The Remedy is Worse Than the Malady

"I saw a fellow exceeding the speed limit the other evening. I know, because I kept right behind him for several miles." -Harold the Scer.

"A car?" stormed an angry father. "Of course you can't have a car! Why, you would be absolutely helpicss if you found yourself with a flat tire. "Oh, no. I wouldn't Daddy," the daugher retorted confidently. "I've given flat tires the air before this."

WHAT PRICE ATHLETICS? With 80 per cent of the students of the Appleton High School living on the North side of the river, should the proposed new High School building be located on the River View Country Club grounds?

The principal asset of the River View Country Club that I have seard advanced is the available space for athletic field adjoining the school building.

There seems to be a growing tenlency to have students look upon thletics as a "major" and the less thrilling but more important classoom work as a "minor." Don't plame the boys for the "high morality of College Athletes" if we put the cart before the horse by securing an athletic field and moving the High School to it. Athletics should help men make successes in life and not failures.

The main question I raise in regard to this location is the inaccessibility, making it necessary to send at least 800 of the 1000 students across the Fox River over two or three bridges, primarily over the South Oneida or Cherry Street bridges. Both of these bridges are now conjected with traffic and will grow more so. The students now approach the present High School in his early twenties. McMANN, detective sergeant, questions the following suspects: Ruth, MRS, BORDEN, Borden's estranged wife and mother of his two children, who admits calling on him Saturday after-noon; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, who says she called on Borden Saturday afternoon to get the torn half of a $500 bill he promised her; JACK HAY-WARD, Ruth's flance, whose office is across the norraw airshaft from Borden's.

Hayward says he returned to: seventh floor Saturday afternoon to get his and Ruth's matince tickets left on his desk. Mc-Mann's belief in Jack's guilt is strengthened by the testimony of MICKY MORAN and OTTO PFLUGER, elevator boys and of BILL COWAN, Jack's friend, who tells of having heard Jack threaten Borden's life.

A detective is sent for CLEO GILMAN, Borden's discarded mistress. BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy, says he returned to the office Saturday afternoon to get Ruth's gun for target practice but it was already gone. ASHE Borden's manservant, tells McMann of a woman with a beautiful contralto voice of whom Borden lived in fear.

MINNIE CASSIDY, scrubwoman, tells of going to Borden's office at 1:30 Saturday, answering his phone while he was out and of telling the woman with a "beautiful alto voice" that Borden refused to talk to her then but asked her to call later. Ruth asked Mrs. Borden if her husband knew some woman with a beautiful contralto voice. #### JUST DESERTS TO PERK UP THE SPRING MENUS

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

Someone casually catalogued des serts as "pleasing foods which prolong the meal" but careful housewife looks beyond sweet, pleasing and prolonging characteristics and plans her dessert from three angles. nourishment, cost and beauty.

In considering the mourishment of the dessert the whole meal must be taken into consideration. Calculate the calories and observe the pro tein contained in the main part of the meal. In the first course of a luncheon is a rich cream soup do not serve a dessert made of milk and eggs. If the meat course has been a heavy roast a light cooling dessert should be chosen. But when the meat course has been light the dessert can well make up the necessary protein in its milk and eggs. Sugar is a quick energizer or stimulant and often adds much to the fuel value of the meal. If the dinner has been lacking in bulk and breadstuffs the dessert should be of rice or one of the coarse grained flours.

Regarding cost. If the meat and vegetables have been expensive serve an inexpensive dessert. This does not mean a common-place one but rather one that is simple, requiring no , cream and expensive, elaborate ingredients. Good "taste' decrees a simple dessêrt after an elaborate main course.

The way in which any food is servediadds much to its value and the dessert made attractive by a cube of bright jelly or cherry gains much, no matter how simple it may be.

Fruit is ideal for dessert on several counts. One of the criticisms of the food of the average family is that there is too little fruit. 'The serving of fresh fruit saves time, an important factor in a mother's work. It eliminates waste when several varieties are cut 'up together since none need go, begging because there's not enough to go 'round, Slightly sweetened and chilled there's nothing more refreshing than a fruit "cup."

Fruit juices stiffened by the addition, of gelatin make an excellent dessert for almost all ages and types. The person who is dieting to reduce

RADIO TO CONTROL TRANS-CONTINENT AIR PLANE ROUTE

New York Is Successful

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

The system is called range" and is now in operation be terials and pump there will be delay tween the municipal airport at Cleveland and Hadley Field at New Brunswick, N. J., near New York. By this system pliets are guided along their proper course without deviation of more than five miles.

The principle upon which the radio range works is that of directional transmission of radio signals. It was first demonstrated successfully when Lieutenants Hegenberger and Maitiand were guided on their hop over 2,400 miles of the Pacific ocean from San Francisco to Hawaii, in June, 1927.

Now the system is in practical operation, with a radio station in Cleveland, one at Hadley Field and another midway between the two at Bellefonte, Pa., sending out predetermined signals continually while an airplane equipped to receive them and be guided by them is in the air. AT CLEVELAND

The apparatus at Cleveland is typscal of all three. Here a 750-watt transmitter is set up in a shack beyond the limits of the landing field. A triangular loop aerial is erected outside to hurl the signals from the transmitter in an east-west direction, alded in its directional effect by a goniometer, or angle measuring instrument, inside

A constant series of signals is automatically transmitted from this apparatus by the turn of a switch in the larger radio house nearby. These signals are directed along an angular path of about three degees, toward the east and west.

Flying eastward toward the Belleangle. At the 100-mile or midway up the Bellefonte signals and fly in- some difference, however, to one or tion until he arrives there.

in a widening path until he picks up themselves on a sound, stable basthe signals from Hadley Field, when it he will keep on pointing in another narrowing path to New York.

The widest margin of flight in this angular path is about eight or ten miles, or not more than five miles off the course either way. As he turns away from the direct line, the signals become fainter and fainter and the pilot can easily turn back toward the stronger signals. signals.

CODE LETTERS. The signals from each station consists of letters in code. For instance, New York transmits the letter A to el toward Bellefonte, and the letter N, which is the reverse of A in code, and he is after. This is attributed perience. uth of this line. Bellefonte trans mits D to the north toward New York and to the south toward Cleve-

Thus both letters are intertwined so that the signal the pilot hears when he is on the exact line of his course is a series of long dashes.

As he flies to the north of this line he hears the north letter of the station he is leaving or approaching. Ase he files to the south he hears the south letter. Thus he always knows just exactly where he is along the "radio range."

The means by which the pilot hears these signals is a reed-like apparatus developed at the U.S. Bureau of Standards. Headphones bring the sound of this reed to him. His receiver is the latest type of radio frequency set using screen grid tubes in its two first-radio stages, a sensitive detector and two audio amplyfying stages.

Besides hearing the signal, the pilot may see them by means of lights more than $52,000,000,000 in new operated like the reed. The headphones, however, are now in use. Yet this radio range isn't all the equipments used to assure safe flying over the Cleveland to New York route. The radio house maintained at the Cleveland airport is standard for all others the U.S. Department of Commerce will provide at similar strategic points. It contains a twokilowatt transmitter for ground to plane communication and a 500-watt crystal controlled transmitter for station to station work. Ground to plane communication goes out on a low frequency not only from this but from the other two stations. Station to station calls are made on a high frequency, each station having its own allotted wavelength, but all using a common calling frequency of 5940 kilocycles by day and 3370 by night.

Ground to plane communication is made by voice, while station to station calls are made through the teletype machine, generally in code.

The entire radio equipment at Cleveland, Bellefonte and Hadley Field is owned and operated by the airways division of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Appleton And Neenah Meet In Last Game Of Season

EACH TEAM HAS WON FROM OTHER DURING SEASON

Orange Seconds Will Meet Red Rocket Seconds in Preliminary

PPLETON basketball fans will A have a chance to see what is the last basketball game in this section of the state and what probably will be the best of the season when Appleton and Neenah high school teams meet up in Armory G Thursday evening.

The two teams have played twice this year, the Appleton five winning the first game by a fair margin. Schneller, Coach Jorgenson's all-star center was missing from the fray and a few week's later when he was back in the game, the Neenahites won the fracas. Coaches Jorgenson and Shields now have arranged for a third and "rubber" game to decide which team is the better.

Coach Jorgenson's Neenah five seems to have the edge for the battle for they are all keyed up over winning the Menasha district meet and now are looking for greater worlds to conquer. Too, they probably will be at their best Thursday. because a victory over the Appleton team will rate them as one of the strongest teams in this section of the Neenah is the only team hereabouts to beat Appleton by more than three points.

To recall the offensive strength of the Red Rockets one needs only go through the records to find that Appleton lost but five games this season, three by one point margins, one by a three point margin and one to Neenah by about six points margin. The game should be interesting from another point because it will feature Berg, in the roll of high scorer in the Fox river valley against J.hnson, rated an all-conference guard at the Menasha meet. Coach Jorgenson of the Neenahites probably will order Lis best guard to watch the ace of Coach Shields' scoring staff, and then the battle will be on. Members of the Appleton five have been practicing daily for the coming fracas. They want to win to avenge the last trimming they took and now that the Neenahites are booked to enter the state tournament the victory would be doubly sweet.

Second teams from the two schools will play in the opener. The Neenah reserves have held an Indian sign over the Appleton aggregation for the entire season, copping three games from them by close margins. The Orange intends to even matters. Thursday by handing out a drubbing to the Neenah five.

7ALTER JOHNSON and Billy Southworth are regarded by the major league ball players as two of the swellest fellows in the business and because of their nice, easy-going dispositions a lot of experts think that neither will succeed as a major league manager.

Johnson is having his first trial as the manager of the Washington Senators and Southworth is making his debut as the manager of the St.

Because of the affection that Washington has for Johnson his spot is much easier than the one into which Southworth has fallen. If there will be no dire penalty put on hard with them.

JUST A TOUGH SPOT

Southworth is in a much more critical position. He is assuming the management of a team that won a pennant last year and one the experts to win this year. If the team doesn't finish in first

Tommy has not been compelled to

The Philadelphian was twenty-six years old last November and for the past year and a half he had trouble getting down to weight for his contests. In all of his fights since attaining the leadership of his class, Loughran has been exactly one half pound under the class weight and this has spelled a hard effort each time. Roy Bohler has quit as director of athletics at Beloit and the action again starts the old discussion about winning teams and alumni and student comments. Bobler's reason for quitting was that he couldn't continue to uphold the policy of the school authorities of non-subsidized athletics and continue to take the criticism of students and alumni for not producing winning teams.

The situation at Beloit is an old one in college and even university circles. The students and alums like winning teams, sometimes that is often impossible unless you have "natural" athletes on your squads. There is good reason to believe hat the most valuable player stunt will go by the board in the American League this year. It does not mean anything except trouble for the clubowners. It raised jealousy in the American league in 1928 and in the National league also. It provoked contumely, ridicule and much sarcasm, especially after the showing that Bottomley made in the world series.

It has been a garden for the cultivation of politics. Writers who have not been on the committee, have heaped abuse upon it. It does not nean a thing, anyway, in the opinon of the old-time players. Also it means that the winner one year is apt to overcome his own fame the next year, and, consequently, not able to obtain applause for anything.

FOOTBALL-BASEBALL or business, it's teamwork that makes for the fullest measure of efficiency.. and certainly the management of a well-conducted household comes under the heading of business--Yes--a little teamwork in handling the family finances will very materially increase the buying power of the household dollar.

The clever Housewife who reads the newspaper ads every day discovers many unusual opportunities to save money. Occasionally, however, she finds it inconvenient to rundown town on a shopping trip. That's where "Teamwork" can be made to play an important part in this household business.

Rather than lose out on the money saving possibilites of any special offering, she phones her husband or some other member of the family, to stop in and pick up the advertised article on the way home. This type of "Teamwork" pays big dividends.

MANY an inferior plano has an acceptable tone when it is new. But a year or two, or even less, will work disastrous changes. The test of a piano lies not only in its tone, but its ability to hold it.

That is one of the great advantages of the Steinway. Time will not mar the beauty of its tone. Fifty years from now its voice will be just as lovely, just as resonant, as it is today. The Steinway is a profitable long-term investment. It is built to last.

And the Steinway, too, is an investment which lies within the reach of everyone. You need only 10% of the purchase price for the first payment, and the balance will be extended over a period of two years. There are upright and grand models, ranging in price from $875.00 to $2975.00. One of them is ideally suited to your home. Come see them at our store—today.

Duncan Tells of Plans to Combat Battle to Be Waged by Dry Forces

Madison -(P)- Wets promoting their interests in the forthcoming referendum on repeal of the Sever son dry law and legalization of 3.75 per cent alcoholic beer, have adopted the slogan "vote as you drink," according to Thomas Duncan, state senator and author of the referendum plan.

"The drys are making a big 'get out the vote' plea," Duncan said today. "We will make no such plea, although we expect that the interest in the election will draw most of the voters to the polls. main attempt will be to have the electorate vote as it drinks.

"If you have had a drink in the last calendar year-or even in the last fiscal year, you will no doubt yes on one or both of the questions. We are perfectly willing to take the "no" votes of those who can honestly say they have had nothing to drink in that period of time but hope those who drink are honest enough to vote in accord with that."
